Swanswell buck the recession trend to recruit 30 new members of staff

Winning new contracts leads Swanswell to create 30 new jobs

7 December 2009, Warwickshire, Coventry and Birmingham – At a time when other organisations are making redundancies, Swanswell, a national charity that helps people overcome drug, alcohol and other problem behaviour, is busy recruiting 30 new staff. Swanswell have recently won contracts which require them to significantly expand their workforce across Warwickshire, Coventry and Birmingham.

To help in their search for highly motivated, positive people to join their award winning team, they're holding a recruitment open day at their Birmingham office on Monday 14 December, from 10am. Opportunities are available for Operations Managers, Substance Misuse Workers and Support Workers – positions that would suit people from a range of backgrounds, and for those who have recently lost their job, provide the opportunity of developing a new career.

Swanswell Head of Operations, Alison Chappell, said: "Swanswell is looking for talented and committed people whose desire to change lives for the better makes them go that extra mile. Our staff are our greatest asset. Their work makes a real difference to the lives of our service users who want to make positive changes to their lifestyles. We're opening our
